Experience

Lead Visual Designer March 2014 - November 2017

Method, Inc., New York, NY

Executive Creative Director, Stephen Wake

Executive Director Client Services, Reema Pinto

Directed, defined, and designed new experiences to bring McDonald's into the digital era. Beginning with a 6 week redesign of an existing mobile ordering app and expanded to 3.5 year engagement with the client. This resulted in the creation of an omni-channel strategic framework and a new digital vision for the company. Our mission was to enhance every customer's experience with the world's largest restaurant through creating new digital products, features, and services.

- Helped build a team of cross-disciplinary designers, personally interviewing and screening 80+ candidates
- Functioned as a part of successful agile process, working in collaborative cross-functional teams of visual, interaction, technological designers, working iteratively in short defined sprints to achieve product milestones, for both MVP and mature product evolution cycles
- Established the Modern Fresh look and feel of the chosen direction for the visual design system carried across mobile app, in-store kiosk, and global dot-com (responsive desktop and mobile web) that would form the basis of the current Global Design System for McDonald's
- Built a scalable / flexible system of design components through the practice of atomic design to aid adoption and ensure coherence and consistency between channels and across touch points
- Underwent a crash course in user interface design and the role of the interaction discipline across a wide array of digital displays, technologies, and hardware, taking into account best of industry practices to ensure access and inclusivity for a wide range of user age groups and demographics
- Produced low fidelity click-through prototypes using InVision to quickly validate proposed design solutions
- Transitioned (and trained) the studio from less-optimal design tools and processes (Photoshop and red-line documentation) to Sketch and Sympli; creating more functional design artifacts for offshore developers increasing productivity and reducing timelines and expense
- Lead and participated in key stakeholder workshops at McDonald's HQ in Chicago to establish a strategic vision for and define the role newly established Global Digital Group within the broader organization.
- Organized and conducted qualitative and quantitative consumer research groups both NYC and Chicago to validate product features and test design solutions (analysis and synthesis outputs)
- Helped senior leadership cast project teams, scope and schedule product sprints to meet business objectives
- Mentored senior and staff designers; helped define goals and set tasks to ensure progress on desired career paths
